DETAILED ACTION

1. The previous allowance (claims 7-11) is withdrawn. A new ground of rejection (non-final rejection) is set forth below.

Drawings

2. The corrected drawings of Figures 4 and 5 (filed September 28, 2006) are accepted by the examiner.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 7-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Chase et al. (US 2005/0227400).

Forming a micro spindle in the preamble is treated as a statement of intended use and not as a limitation in this office action. Therefore, It is not accorded any patentable weight.

In a method of processing a wafer, Chase teaches that a wafer may comprise a device region and two through regions. The two through regions may be positioned on both sides of the device region. The wafer may be partially removed (etched) in the device region from a first surface of the wafer. The wafer may be removed (etched) in the two through regions from a second surface of the wafer until the wafer is removed to the first surface. See [0019] [0021]; Figs.4 and 5. The region for spindle (so-called spindle region in the instant claims) is interpreted as the purpose of the process or sets forth the intended use of the region, and therefore it is not given any patentable weight.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 10 and 11 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim 1-6 allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Applicant's amendments and responses (September 28, 2006, specifically, page 7, paragraphs 1 and 2) are deemed persuasive to overcome the previous rejections.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
